Graeme,

Stephen Haigh's recording of Cobden Farm has shown that the building probably dates from the 18th century, and was subsequently heightened prior to the addition of a shippon after the 1840s. It is considered to be fairly typical example of a combination barn built to serve a small upland, mainly pastoral farm.

I can confirm that the on-site recording and reporting have been completed in accordance with LCAS requirements, and therefore recommend that condition no. 16 of the planning permission be discharged.
