TITHE BARN BROWSHOLME HALL PROPOSAL TO VARY PLANNING CONDITION NO. 7

Planning Approval and Listed Buildings Planning Consent
Various works including conversion of barn for functions and tourism use.
Application No 3/2007/1093 & 94
Decision Date 17th January 2008

1. Background

Browsholme Tithe Barn was completed on 31st August 2010, the first event being a farmers market on 5th September.

Condition 7 states:

'The use of the function room for private parties, including weddings and other similar events shall be limited to 28 days in any calendar year'

The proposal is to vary this condition to increase use to 90 days in any one year.

2. Overview

The business plan for the Tithe Barn, made in Autumn 2007, was to increase the tourism associated with the Hall. To a large extent this has proven successful though not necessarily in ways that we had anticipated.

The current economic climate has had a significant impact on activities where we aimed to attract individual members of the public; whereas approaches for private use of the Barn have been more than expected. For example a two day Civil War Re-enactment in June barely attracted 400 people, in May a Hawk Display less. An art exhibition was a relative success but the frequency of similar events has had to be reduced. In comparison a recent opera performance was a sell out. The monthly farmers market has drawn between 350 -600 on a regular basis and will we hope during 2012 become a known established event. Day visitors have increased partly due to the fact we have more to offer, such as refreshments; but the cost of fuel has undoubtedly had an impact on casual weekend trade and will continue to do so.

To our surprise we have attracted far more private functions this calendar year than we expected including book launches, AGM's, a 60th birthday and of course weddings; many of these being enticed by the historic backdrop of the Hall and the facilities the Tithe Barn has to offer. I am not aware that there are any complaints from local residents and we are careful to monitor noise and take any action to prevent nuisance. Next year we anticipate that enquiries will exceed the use limited in the planning condition.

Marketing to the wider general public has always been a challenge but it has been made much harder by the recession and price of fuel; this is the reason for seeking a broader market to use the Tithe Barn and therefore greater flexibility in the planning use. The Tithe Barn has created 1 ½ full time, and up to 20 part time employees within management, catering, gardening, maintenance and car park. Functions demand a greater number of staff.

The Tithe Barn won the LABC 'Best Small Commercial Building' in the Northwest, a commendation in the Sotheby's National Restoration Award and a highly commended in the national Hudsons Award for Best Restoration.

3. Summary of Events and Functions at the Tithe Barn 2011 (1st year Trading)

Over the calendar year we have held the following number of events and functions in the Tithe Barn:

Weddings	18
Private functions	10
		28
Group Tours	35
Farmers Market	11
Public open events (eg opera, pantomime etc)	5
		51
Hall open days	28
		28

4. Estimated Private Functions at the Tithe Barn 2012 (2nd year Trading)

We have received the following provisional bookings for next year

Weddings	28 booked, 7 provisional Majority booking 15-18 months in advance
Private functions	Unknown as yet as they are booked 2-3 month in advance.

After Xmas engagements and we anticipate further interest in use as a wedding venue, with reasonable expectation of 45 bookings subject to planning.

5. Estimated Private Functions at the Tithe Barn 2013- 14 (3rd 4th year Trading)

While the impact of the recession is unknown we believe that there is a very strong demand to use the Tithe Barn as a venue for a wide range of private functions, at times when the Hall is not open to the public particularly out of season.

We have yet to actively market the venue for private corporate use, funerals, christenings and use by local societies due to the restriction on functions. However it quite conceivable that the demand for private functions may amount to 90 daytime and evening events over a calendar year

6. Impact on the surrounding environment.

Cars: Public events undoubtedly create far greater car movements than private functions, which are usually easily contained within the Tithe Barn car park. We continually review signage and have installed new gates at the entrance to the inner stable yard to control traffic movements.

Licensing: The Tithe Barn has a premises licence and all evening functions cease at midnight. However we anticipate 50 % of the demand for private functions will be during the day.

Sound: We are not aware of any formal complaints regarding the level of sound from the Tithe Barn and have used a decibel meter to monitor levels inside and outside the barn.

7. Sustainability

It is our experience that for private functions that there is a strong synergy with local businesses spreading economic benefit beyond the Tithe Barn itself. Our website (www.browsholme.com) gives full details of those businesses including:

- Churches
- Bed and breakfast/hotels
- Photographers
- Florists
- Musicians
- Taxi & Coach Hire
- Beauty and Hairdressers
- Tables , Chairs and Linen Hire

Private clients increasingly use and are encouraged towards green forms of travel (taxi/ group travelling). As we are finding more people are visiting Tithe Barn as a destination for private parties we are not reliant on the day visitors or passing trade due to rising fuel costs.

8. Other matters

Our medium term objectives are as follows

- to seek more coach parties to the Hall who will use the facilities at the Tithe Barn
- to establish the Bowland Farmers Market in the local calendar to mirror the success of that at Hoghton Tower.
- to arrange more public performances of music and theatre in the Tithe Barn and subject to planning approval

- to increase private corporate use of the Barn
- to accommodate the demand for weddings an private functions
- to seek new markets such as civil funerals and christenings

We would anticipate an increase in full time staff by the end of 2012, not only to manage the events, but also enhance the grounds of the Hall for the enjoyment of visitors; if the variation to the condition were approved.
