SECTION 'A-A'

A hand-drawn floor plan of a house. The plan shows a rectangular layout. At the top, there is a small rectangular area, possibly a porch or entrance. Below this is a large rectangular area labeled "LOUNGE". To the right of the lounge, there is a smaller rectangular area. Below the lounge, there is a staircase labeled "DOWN" and "UP". To the right of the staircase, there is a small rectangular area. Below the staircase is a large rectangular area labeled "KITCHEN". To the right of the kitchen, there is a small rectangular area. The plan includes various lines and symbols indicating walls, doors, and furniture.

A hand-drawn floor plan of a house, likely a sketch for a building project. The plan is divided into three main rooms: BEDROOM 1 at the top, Box Room at the bottom left, and BATH m at the bottom right. A central staircase is located between the Box Room and the Bath m, with a door labeled "Door" leading to it. The plan also shows several windows and doors, including a door at the top center and a door at the bottom center. The drawing is done in black ink on a white background.

This architectural drawing shows a section of a building facade. On the left is a tall, narrow door with a decorative panel. To the right of the door are three windows. Two windows are positioned higher up, and one is lower down, aligned with the door's height. Each window has a decorative frame with a triangular pattern in the upper section. A horizontal line, possibly a roofline or a structural element, runs across the top of the facade above the windows.
