2/80 Pasture House Farmhouse - - II

House, late C17th. Rendered rubble with stone slate roof. 3-cell plan. 2 storeys. The left-hand cell, possibly a later addition, has double-chamfered mullioned windows of 6 lights on the ground floor and 4 lights on the 1st floor. To the left on the 1st floor is a rendered chamfered surround with central splayed mullion and a projecting sill. To the left on the ground floor is a chamfered door surround of late C19th type, of rock-faced stone. The right-hand 2-cell part of the house is of 3 bays and has windows with inner ovolo moulding and outer chamfer, of 3 lights on the ground floor and 2 on the 1st floor. The left-hand 1st floor window is an exception and has a rendered chamfered surround, projecting sill, and central splayed mullion. To the left on the ground floor is a fire window with plain reveals. The door in the central bay has a plain stone surround and a hood of 2 pitched stone slates. End chimneys, with 3rd chimney to right of left-hand cell. Interior not accessible at time of survey. The first Nonconformist ordination in Yorkshire took place here in 1678. T. Whitehead, History of the Dales Congregational Churches, 1930.

The main farmhouse is a Grade 2 listed building.

The building subject of the application is a new modern portal framed agricultural building. Its intended use is for general purpose agricultural livestock use, in connection with the existing activity on the holding

Evaluation

The proposal offers no material change to the structure, materials or integrity of the listed building, it is proposed some 158m away from the listed building, and there are other buildings between the two.

The proposal poses no threat to loss or changes to the historic fabric (e.g. windows, doors, fireplaces, panelling, trusses, original partitions, mouldings etc); There are no changes to the layout; Impacts upon appearance, character and setting of the historic environment.

Several farm buildings of a more traditional design, using modern materials have been erected on this farm over the years. This proposal is for an up to date building.
