The parish councils following an email consultation wish to raise the following objections.

- 1. It gives no reason for replacing the garage doors with 'bi-fold doors' which are what you would normally have as patio doors. It looks like the garage is becoming a living room whilst still being labelled a garage. The front elevation now clearly looks like a living room rather than a garage.
- 2. The plans also increase the number of bedrooms from 4 to 6 without making any reference to this change.
- 3. The render requires changing to brick because of requests from 'neighbouring people'. Nobody on Paris has requested this. The front will already look different to what was approved on the first set of plans and it looks like significant changes are being made under the guise of these variations.

As an additional point of interest the local residents have had to have the fire brigade out to the builders on site who are burning rubbish rather than skipping it.
