Good morning,

Re: the application received for the building of houses on land behind the Dog Inn, Longridge.

As a nearby [REDACTED] I have seen Longridge go from a quiet market town into a much busier place to live, to it's detriment.

I moved [REDACTED] to get away from all the traffic there, but now see that it is often worse! ..especially in the morning and evening rush-hours, when it is becoming quite dangerous to get from one side of the road to the other.

The same small narrow streets which used to be safe, are now anything but.

There are just too many people and cars.

What I propose, is that rather than build even more houses in Longridge with more cars, is that this particular piece of land be made into a pleasantly landscaped area with trees and paths for the local residents to walk their dogs, relax in after a busy day at work, and take their children to play.

I feel my concerns are greatly shared by many others.

Best Regards
