Comments: [REDACTED] on this site, I can't express how quiet it actually is compared to neighbouring farms which have plant and machinery moving at all hours of the day and night. A couple of vans pulling in and out of the site will be nothing compared to the thunderous artic wagons that predominately go past. As a local [REDACTED] I am really struggling to see a problem with a local firm employing local people and providing them with work in such hard times. I hope sense prevails and this local firm is supported in their future endeavours.
