Hi Ben,

It appears that the developer for the above application has carried out a further noise assessment of the kennels. I presume under the pretence that it is currently half term and the kennels must be busy. I consider this as a complete waste of time as it will in no way be fair representation of when the kennels is full.

This really isn't rocket science and the U.K. tourism industry is currently in the quiet season. [REDACTED]

I ask again that when this application is further considered that appropriate sound reduction measures are taken... for example 2mtr high sound reduction fencing and further noise reduction measures taken in the construction of the Pods.

Kind regards
