FAO John Machloc

[REDACTED] Ribble Lane Chatburn I cannot express my dismay at the plans to route hundreds of heavy traffic down a road which is already swamped by local traffic.

The road is not fit for such wagons as there is no space for large vehicles to pass each other, even if the road was empty of all other vehicles.

The level of pollution both atmospheric and noise would make the village impossible to live in.

The other obvious route which uses a purpose built road for large vehicles would be the Pimlico link road.

The environmental impact of both routes is quite catastrophic both the use of the link road would result in using much less fuel being a shorter and more direct route.

The danger of risk of life would be lessened as it doesn't pass through as many residential areas where school children are present especially when the school buses already block the road.

Please do not use Ribble Lane for the sanity of everyone who lives on and uses this road.

Yours hopefully
